Dear Parents/Carers

Year 12 Internal Exams Postponed

I am writing to inform you that the Year 12 internally assessed exams - due to take place soon after Easter - have been postponed. Given the extended period in which our Year 12 students were required to work from home this term, we feel it is only fair to allow them some more face-to-face teaching and learning time before we ask them to sit these exams. The exams are now due to take place on w/c 14 June.

More information will follow after Easter in relation to these exams, where a formal exam timetable will be shared with both parents and students.

I would like to take this opportunity to remind you of some exciting events and opportunities taking place next term. Hopefully you had a chance to watch our Futures Launch Event on 16th March, which gave some initial information regarding work experience, higher education, apprenticeships and EPQ. Our Futures Website is due to be launched to parents and students shortly after the Easter break, where you will be able to find even more information regarding these areas.

Last week, we launched the EPQ programme and we have asked students to fill in this Google Form if they are interested. Please watch Ms Ellershaw's screencastify if you would like to know more about this qualification.

We also launched the Head Student Team process with students last week, asking them to consider applying for one of the following positions: Head Student, House Captain, Head of Committee, Prefect. Please feel free to look through these Slides, which explains a little more about the roles and the application process.

If you would like to know more about any of these opportunities, or if you have any questions relating to the Year 12 exams, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yours faithfully

Mrs E Browne
